

Orientation

Emily Kame Kngwarreye is a proud first nation Australian of Anmatyerre descent. She was born in 1910 and spent her childhood in Utopia in the Northern Territory. She is a well known painter and would be very persistent with her art. Emily Kame kngwarreye is a significant Aboriginal woman because of her unique art her individuality and textures is what her art is most famous for.

Childhood and education

Emily kame kngwarreye had no art education as a child. Her education in her childhood is not classified. She has one brother and was sister which both have children their name s are not classified. Her Mother is from Alhapere her name is not classified her Father was also born in Alhapere his name is not classified. She was born in the early 1900s. She grew up in Utopia in the Northern Territory. Evan though she had no art education as she grew older her connection to art grew bigger.

Adulthood

Even though she was an amazing artist she only started her art career in her late 70s, to early 80s. In 1980 her art career started creating batik cloth, she layered lines and dots to form plant-like imagery. Emily's art was different to the other Aboriginal peoples of her time. Emily kame kngwarreye was an Amterre elder. Emily like most Aboriginal women of her time she had an arranged marriage with a man who's name is not specified. She is very independent with art and does art with no help.

Life achievements

Emily was a very proud artist. She as made over 3,000 art works in the span of eight years with one art work a day. Her first canvas Emu Woman instantly attracts attention from its unique features and textures. In 1989 she was awarded a Homeless Court Scholarship. In 1992 she received an Australian artist creative fellowship.

Conclusion

Emily Kame kngwarreye grew up in Utopia. She was born in 1910 with the date not classified. She was awarded a Homeless Court Scholarship in 1989. Her first canvas Emu Woman is one her best and most famous artworks. She sadly died on the 3rd of September 1996.